The One Minutes Series of August features 30 one-minute videos by students of Sandberg Instituut – Masters of Art and Design in Amsterdam (NL). The Sandberg Series 2017 is a mixtape of investigations, statements, experiments, narratives and documentaries by next generation's visual artists, designers, composers, performers, philosophers and writers. Prepare for: ritual dances, healing feelings, healing landscapes, hypnotising digital surroundings, communication with non-human animals and a manual how to act in a museum.

The One Minutes was initiated in 1998 by Sandberg students. Each year, The One Minutes provides workshops for students in all the instituut's departments: Design, Dirty Art Department, Fine Arts, Master of Voice, Materialisation in Art and Design, Reinventing Daily Life and Studio for Immediate Spaces.

Over the course of a week, students get to try out the format. The limited time frame stimulates and challenges the artists to be inventive. The One Minute format is also a good way of communicating your research to others. Within the span of a single minute, anything is possible.

In August, the series will tour museums and cultural spaces around the world subscribed to The One Minutes.
